Blind SQL Injection

Severity	High
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerScheme/Blind_Sql_Injection.script

Description

SQL injection (SQLi) refers to an injection attack wherein an attacker can execute malicious SQL statements that control a web application's database server.

Impact

An attacker can use SQL injection it to bypass a web application's authentication and authorization mechanisms and retrieve the contents of an entire database. SQLi can also be used to add, modify and delete records in a database, affecting data integrity. Under the right circumstances, SQLi can also be used by an attacker to execute OS commands, which may then be used to escalate an attack even further.

Recommendation

Use parameterized queries when dealing with SQL queries that contains user input. Parameterized queries allows the database to understand which parts of the SQL query should be considered as user input, therefore solving SQL injection.

Possible database backup

Severity	High
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerServer/Database_Backup.script

Description

Manual confirmation is required for this alert.

It looks like this file contains a database backup/dump. Acunetix inferred this filename from the domain name. A database backup contains a record of the table structure and/or the data from a database and is usually in the form of a list of SQL statements. A database backup is most often used for backing up a database so that its contents can be restored in the event of data loss. This information is highly sensitive and should never be found on a production system.

Impact

This file may disclose sensitive information. This information can be used to launch further attacks.

Recommendation

Sensitive files such as database backups should never be stored in a directory that is accessible to the web server. As a workaround, you could restrict access to this file.

HTML form without CSRF protection

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	/Crawler/12-Crawler_Form_NO_CSRF.js

Description

This alert requires manual confirmation

Cross-Site Request Forgery (CSRF, or XSRF) is a vulnerability wherein an attacker tricks a victim into making a request the victim did not intend to make. Therefore, with CSRF, an attacker abuses the trust a web application has with a victim's browser.

Acunetix found an HTML form with no apparent anti-CSRF protection implemented. Consult the 'Attack details' section for more information about the affected HTML form.

Impact

An attacker could use CSRF to trick a victim into accessing a website hosted by the attacker, or clicking a URL containing malicious or unauthorized requests.

CSRF is a type of 'confused deputy' attack which leverages the authentication and authorization of the victim when the forged request is being sent to the web server. Therefore, if a CSRF vulnerability could affect highly privileged users such as administrators full application compromise may be possible.

Recommendation

Verify if this form requires anti-CSRF protection and implement CSRF countermeasures if necessary.

The recommended and the most widely used technique for preventing CSRF attacks is know as an anti-CSRF token, also sometimes referred to as a synchronizer token. The characteristics of a well designed anti-CSRF system involve the following attributes.

- The anti-CSRF token should be unique for each user session
- The session should automatically expire after a suitable amount of time
- The anti-CSRF token should be a cryptographically random value of significant length
- The anti-CSRF token should be cryptographically secure, that is, generated by a strong Pseudo-Random Number Generator (PRNG) algorithm
- The anti-CSRF token is added as a hidden field for forms, or within URLs (only necessary if GET requests cause state changes, that is, GET requests are not idempotent)
- The server should reject the requested action if the anti-CSRF token fails validation

When a user submits a form or makes some other authenticated request that requires a Cookie, the anti-CSRF token should be included in the request. Then, the web application will then verify the existence and correctness of this token before processing the request. If the token is missing or incorrect, the request can be rejected.

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerFile/Javascript_Libraries_Audit.script

Description

You are using a vulnerable Javascript library. One or more vulnerabilities were reported for this version of the Javascript library. Consult Attack details and Web References for more information about the affected library and the vulnerabilities that were reported.

Impact

Consult References for more information.

Recommendation

Upgrade to the latest version.

Clickjacking: X-Frame-Options header missing

Severity	Low
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerServer/Clickjacking_X_Frame_Options.script

Description

Clickjacking (User Interface redress attack, UI redress attack, UI redressing) is a malicious technique of tricking a Web user into clicking on something different from what the user perceives they are clicking on, thus potentially revealing confidential information or taking control of their computer while clicking on seemingly innocuous web pages.

The server didn't return an X-Frame-Options header which means that this website could be at risk of a clickjacking attack. The X-Frame-Options HTTP response header can be used to indicate whether or not a browser should be allowed to render a page inside a frame or iframe. Sites can use this to avoid clickjacking attacks, by ensuring that their content is not embedded into other sites.

Impact

The impact depends on the affected web application.

Recommendation

Configure your web server to include an X-Frame-Options header. Consult Web references for more information about the possible values for this header.

Possible relative path overwrite

Severity	Low
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerFile/Relative_Path_Overwrite.script

Description

Manual confirmation is required for this alert.

Gareth Heyes introduced a technique to take advantage of CSS imports with relative URLs by overwriting their target file. This technique can be used by an attacker to trick browsers into importing HTML pages as CSS stylesheets. If the attacker can control a part of the imported HTML pages he can abuse this issue to inject arbitrary CSS rules.

Impact

On older versions of Internet Explorer it's possible to execute arbitrary JavaScript code using Internet Explorer's expression() function. An attacker can also extract the page source and potentially steal CSRF tokens using CSS selectors.

Recommendation

If possible, it's recommended to use absolute links for CSS imports. The problem can be partially mitigated by preventing framing. To prevent framing configure your web server to include an X-Frame-Options: deny header on all pages.

Possible sensitive directories

Severity	Low
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerFolder/Possible_Sensitive_Directories.script

Description

A possible sensitive directory has been found. This directory is not directly linked from the website. This check looks for common sensitive resources like backup directories, database dumps, administration pages, temporary directories. Each one of these directories could help an attacker to learn more about his target.

Impact

This directory may expose sensitive information that could help a malicious user to prepare more advanced attacks.

Recommendation

Restrict access to this directory or remove it from the website.

Email address found

Severity	Informational
Reported by module	/Scripts/PerFolder/Text_Search_Dir.script

Description

One or more email addresses have been found on this page. The majority of spam comes from email addresses harvested off the internet. The spam-bots (also known as email harvesters and email extractors) are programs that scour the internet looking for email addresses on any website they come across. Spambot programs look for strings like myname@mydomain.com and then record any addresses found.

Impact

Email addresses posted on Web sites may attract spam.

Recommendation

Check references for details on how to solve this problem.
